DETAILED ACTION

This is the fourth office action for U.S. Application 10/807,506 for a Hanging Adjustable Mount filed on March 23, 2004. Claims 1, 2, and 4-10 are pending.

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on November 15, 2005 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent 4,655,351 to Walker. Walker discloses an adjustable mounting for hanging an object with a mounting element (14) that has a perimeter and a threaded fastener (16) passing through the hole in the mounting element and into the wall. The fastener is adapted to be rotated to be advanced into the wall and tightened against the mounting element to press the mounting element against a wall surface of the wall to a selective degree to create a sufficient frictional force acting between the surface of the wall and the mounting element to prevent rotation of the mounting element about the fastener, or selectively loosened to allow rotation of the mounting element on the fastener while the mounting element is held in a position against the wall surface by the fastener. There is an engagement feature (56) on the mounting element engageable with a wall hanging support attached to the object to be mounted thereon, the feature located eccentrically with respect to the hole and the threaded fastener so as to be shifted vertically when the mounting element is rotated about the fastener. The mounting element is freely rotatable about the threaded fastener when positioned thereby against the wall surface with the fastener loosened sufficiently to reduce the frictional force acting between the surface of the wall and the mounting element to thereby vertically shift a point of engagement of the feature with the hanging support to a desired vertical position on the wall. The mounting element thereafter able to be frictionally held against the wall surface in the desired vertical position to be non-rotatable by tightening of the threaded fastener against the mounting element to create the frictional force acting between the mounting element and the wall surface sufficient to prevent rotation of the mounting element on the fastener with the object held thereon by the hanging support. The mounting element is a generally round disc and the engagement feature comprises a bottom of an annular space (between 56 on each side) extending around a perimeter of the disc.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 4-10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 2, and 4-10 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
